

THE STAR'S DAILY PICTORIAL PAGE

THE EVENING STAR, WASHINGTON, D. C., TUESDAY, MAY 30, 1922.

Members of the American Legion holding services and placing flags and wreaths at 532 memorial trees along 16th street in honor of the District of Columbia boys who died during the world war.

Judge Landis, the "big boss" of base ball, knuckles down with the youngsters for a game of marbles. Photo snapped in Chicago, where the judge is a great favorite with the boys in his neighborhood.
Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

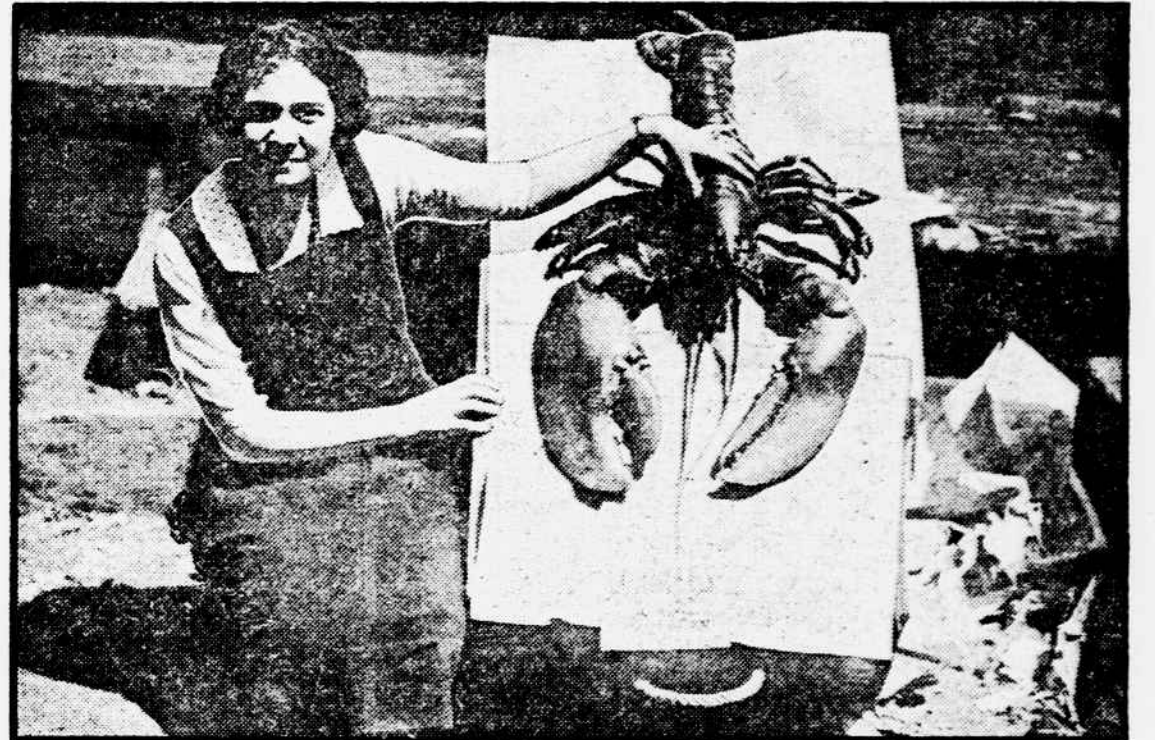

Chicago labor leaders admitted to bail of $75,000. Left to right: Mrs. Tim Murphy, Tim Murphy, his mother, Mrs. Fred Mader, Mader and the son. Standing figures unidentified. Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

Anton Lang, "Christus" of the Oberammergau Passion Play, surrounded by his family. One of the few photographs showing Lang at home. He was selected for the important part on account of his simple life and kindly virtues.
Copyright by P. & A. Photos.

The "pals"—John Close, the long one, and Walter Swiatek, the short—will graduate in the same class of Business High School, Pittsburgh, this year. John is eighteen years old and Walter is fifteen.
Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

The biggest lobster on record, weighing twenty-two pounds and eight ounces. He was caught off the coast of Nova Scotia and recently exhibited in Boston, with a notice that he would "feed the average chorus girl for a week."
Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

Dr. Alice Salomon, Germany's greatest woman leader. She is a member of the radical party and a pioneer of work in the organization of women.
Wide World Photo.

Vice Admiral Pakenham of the British Navy, in command of H. M. S. Raleigh, now at Washington, and Ambassador Geddes leaving the State Department yesterday afternoon.
National Photo.

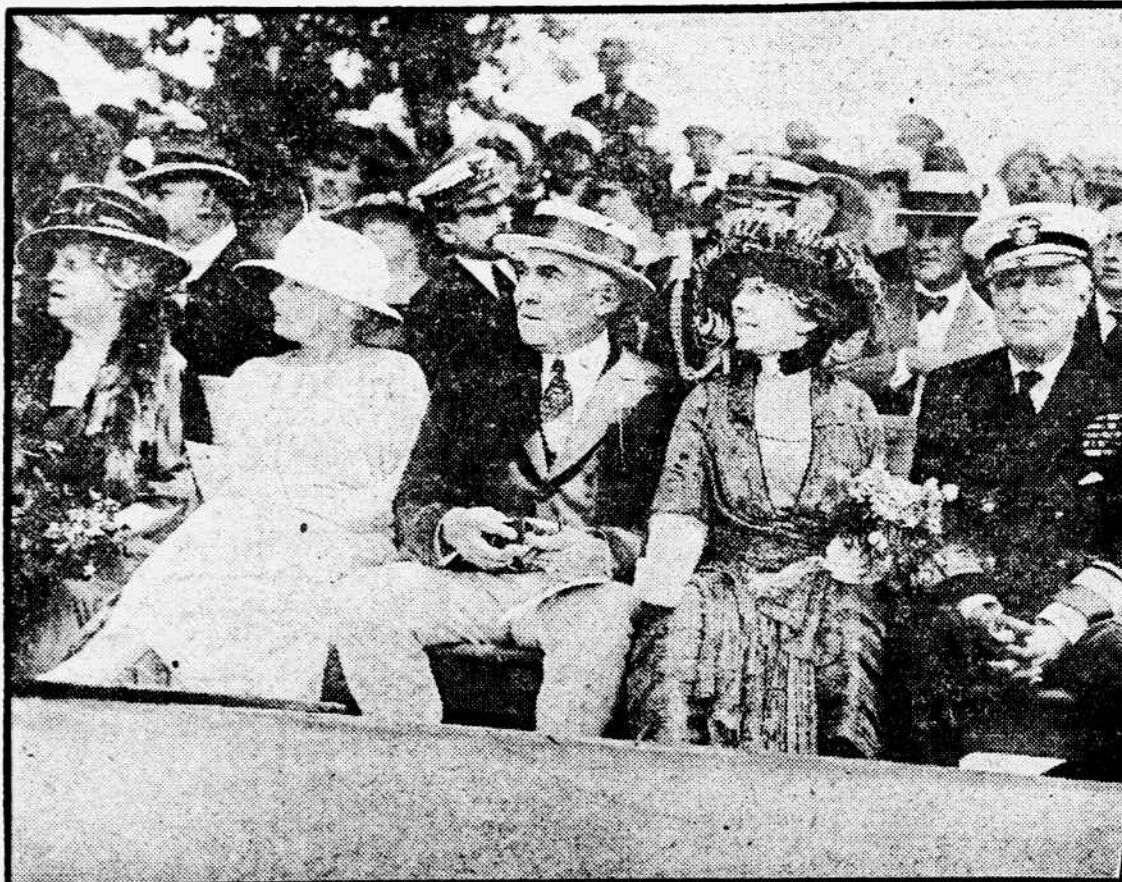

Mashed potatoes with a "kick." Warden Westbrook of the Chicago jail thought the gift of potatoes for one of his prisoners might hide a file or saw. He opened the jar and found a bottle of home-made "hooch." The prisoner was disappointed.
Copyright by P. & A. Photos.

Marshal Foch relates a war story for King George. The English ruler, during his recent visit in Belgium and France, visited many of the famous battlefields of the world war.
Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

Showing the latest in riding habits as worn by Miss Mary Altamus at the Devon horse show, near Philadelphia.
Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

The President and Mrs. Harding see Navy defeat Army in base ball game at Annapolis yesterday. Left to right: Mrs. Weeks, Mrs. Wilson, wife of Admiral Wilson, commandant of Naval Academy; Mrs. Harding and Admiral Wilson.
National Photo.

Isaac Shalsteare, nineteen years old, who arrived in Washington yesterday, completing the first lap of his seven-year hike around the world. He left New York without a cent, working his way from one town to another. Staff Photographer.

Lewis Henry, republican, of Elmira, N. Y., recently elected to fill the vacancy in the House caused by the resignation of Alanson Houghton, now United States ambassador to Germany.
Copyright by Harris & Ewing.

Secretary Wallace conferring Department of Agriculture medal upon Joseph E. Glackin, one of the three Maryland boys who were winners in prize stock and farm products contests. The winners are also entitled to a trip to Europe at government expense.
Copyright by Harris & Ewing.